

Knightbridge, March the 1st, 1789

To the NOBILITY, GENTRY, and Others

---

ROBERT HAMMOND, of Knightbridge,

HAVING received repeated Complaints from many of his Customers, as well as Others, that certain Persons selling Asses Milk, have falsly and deceitfully assumed themselves to be the Successors of Lowther, Payne, Hoare, and Hammond, of Knightbridge, and have thereby imposed from Time to Time, Asses Milk of an inferior Quality to that always served by the House of Lowther, Payne, Hoare, and Hammond.

Mr. HAMMOND therefore thinks it incumbent on him to acquaint the Nobility, Gentry, and Others, that he is the only Successor of the said Messrs. Lowther, Payne, Hoare, and Hammond, and that he resides in the same House, (situated next Morley's Floor-Cloth Manufactory,) which was occupied by his said Predecessors for upwards of Sixty Years, and where, from the Feed and particular Treatment of the Asses, the Milk hath ever been allowed by the Gentlemen of the Faculty, to be superior to any in the Kingdom.

N. B. The Royal Family have been served with Asses Milk by this House, more than Sixty Years.
